

FINDING her place: EOFY appeal

This End of Financial Year, we're asking for your support to help us build and launch the national Finding Her digital educational hub, featuring geo-social women's histories tailored to 3 key learning groups:

- Children under 10
- High school students
- Lifelong learners and the general public

A digital-facing educational hub.

Why now?

In a world where women's histories are still being erased, underfunded or forgotten, the need to document and share women's stories has never been more urgent.

That's why we're asking for your support to help us build and launch the national Finding Her educational hub.

This is a digital-first education initiative from designed to connect women's histories to geography, civic identity, and public memory.

Through a dynamic online platform, this program provides engaging resources that link notable Australian women to the places they shaped - making history accessible to learners wherever they are.

DONATE NOW

Already, over 70 women's stories have been shared on the Finding Her Map. With your help, we can reach thousands of learners.

*All donations are tax deductible.

“Help us bring women's stories to life in classrooms, on walking tours, and across the map.”

The hon. Mary Delahunty, Chair

Reshaping who we learn about, and how.

How Your Gift Makes a Difference:

✧ DONATE $50 - And Spark Curiosity Early

Help create early learning story cards and discovery prompts that introduce young children to inspiring women from history.

✧ DONATE $100 - And Light the Way for Learners

Fund the creation of a curriculum-linked learning activity that brings a mapped woman's story into the classroom.

✧ DONATE $250 - And Bring Her Voice to Life

Help record and edit audio versions of women's stories for walking tours and learning hubs - improving accessibility for all ages and abilities.

✧ DONATE $500 - And Put Her on the Map, Properly

Enable us to design a rich, interactive digital resource for one commemorated woman - including map, images, and education tools.

✧ DONATE $1,000 - And Create a Learning Journey

Support a themed digital trail that connects multiple mapped women by theme (e.g. First Nations leaders, artists, educators) — with story guides and teaching materials.

✧ DONATE $5,000+ - And Champion Your Region

Fund a region-wide digital package - mapping local sites, creating classroom-ready content, and designing a walking tour for schools and the public.

Every donation is tax-deductible - and every dollar gets us closer to a world where women are seen, remembered, and celebrated.
